

U.S. PERFORMANCE DESTINATIONS:

Denver

Denver offers a diverse range of student music performance opportunities, making it an ideal destination for young musicians to showcase their talents. Students can perform at prestigious venues like Boettcher Concert Hall, which is known for its exceptional acoustics and is home to the Colorado Symphony. Additionally, student groups can take part in local events like the Denver Parade of Lights which provide unique platforms for students to perform in front of large, engaged audiences. These experiences not only give students the opportunity to perform on iconic stages but also help them build confidence and gain real-world performance experience in a vibrant, supportive arts community.
